EXPENSIVE MEAL

Detroit.- Police were unsympathetic when James Butler told them his hunger caused his car to zig-zag on a busy expressway.

Butler explained he was eating a carton of chop suey at the wheel.

"I was hungry," he explained. He boosted guilty to a charge of reckless driving and was fined $25 and costs.

A CLEAN STORY

Logansport, Ind.- A burglar "cleaned" Frank Lawler while Lawler was taking a bath in his home.

Lawler told police he thought he heard someone in his apartment, but didn't investigate because he was not wearing any clothes.

When he finished his bath he found a door ajar and his diamond ring, watch, and table clock missing.

TELEPHONE USERS
- Please Note -

● NEW DIRECTORIES READY

New telephone directories of Appomattox and Pamplin telephones will be mailed to all subscribers this week-end. Beginning Monday morning the new Pamplin dial exchange will be placed in full operation for local calls, calls to and from Appomattox and long distance calls.

● SOME TELEPHONES TRANSFERRED TO PAMPLIN

Telephones in the Pamplin area that are now connected to the Appomattox office will have new numbers and be transferred to the new Pamplin office. Since this transfer requires some wiring changes for each telephone changed, there will be a period of 2 or 3 days when these particular telephones may still be on their old Appomattox number, or maybe entirely out of service for a short time, while the connections are being changed. You may therefore have some difficulty in reaching some of these telephones for a couple of days.

● CALLS BETWEEN APPOMATTOX AND PAMPLIN

In calling between the two exchanges please note the special comments in your directory entitled; "Appomattox — Pamplin Calls," on page 2, "Local Calls," on page 3; and the special "Notice" at the beginning of the alphabetical listings for each exchange.

In calling from one exchange thru the other, it is very important that you listen for the dial tone in both exchanges as indicated in the instructions. Otherwise wrong numbers will be reached.

● OVER 1000 TELEPHONES NOW "CALLABLE" LOCALLY

We invite you to use the service now interconnectable to over 1000 telephones in the two exchanges of Appomattox and Pamplin but please don't ABUSE it. Proper USE makes it a helpful and a comforting service to all. ABUSE can make it irritating and worthless. We should remember this, especialy when using party lines and the trunk lines between the two exchanges.

New Farm Supply Store Opens In Pamplin

A new farm supply store will open in Pamplin on Saturday, It is the fourth farm store to be opened in Virginia as a service to farmers by the Virginia Farmers Union.

The Charlotte-Appomattox Farmers Union Supply will have its grand opening on Saturday, February 1, at Pamplin. It is located in the Terry Building.

The opening of this store is a step by Farmers Union designed to lower the cost of farm production, according to P. G. Reynolds, of Red House, chairman of the Charlotte-Appomattox Farmers Union Advisory Committee.

Announcement was made by Mr. Reynolds that Charles B. Rush, of Red House, a prominent Appomattox County farmer, will be the general manager of the store. His assistant will be W. B. Reynolds, also of Red House, but a resident of Charlotte County.

On opening day, Saturday, the supply store will be open from 7 A. M. to 6 P. M., with prizes for lucky farmers who visit the store that day. Each visitor will have free drinks and cookies and will register for prizes.

The prizes to be awarded include an automobile tire, 100 pounds of baby chick feed, and cans of white house paint. Each will will be notified.

This is one of four stores operating in Virginia, under the supervision of the Virginia Farmers Union. The other three are located at Lovingston, Altavista and Montpelier, A total of ten are expected to be in operation by the end of the year.

All carry a complet line of feeds, seeds, fertilizers, automobile, truck and tractor tires and batteries; paints, barbed and screen wire; insecticides, chemicals, electrical appliances, and small hardware items.

In coumenting further on the new store, Mr. Reynolds said:

"Through such stores as the one to be opened at Pamplin on Saturday, members of the Farmers Union in Charlotte and Appomattox Counties, and farmers in general, will be able to purchase many farm supplies at the lowest possible cost."

NEW BOOK IN THE COUNTY LIBRARY

A History of Ths Southern Confederacy
By Clement Eaton.

This carefully documented history shows the effect of war on a human society — in this case on the mind and heart of the old South. Professor Eaton is no sectionalist. He writes with equal compassion for both sides, aware of the sacrifices of each. While many books have depicted only the military or political history of the Confederacy, this account encompasses both as well as the economic and cultural life of the South under the influence of war. In his analysis of the battles lost by the Confederacy, he shows how the role of the victor and the vanquished might have been reversed—though he does conclude that the South could not have won a final victory.

106 YEARS YOUNG

Cincinnati.- Mrs. Ellen Doyle, a spry, white-haired woman who recently celebrated her 106th birthday, has a complaint: modern women.

"They wear hardly any clothes," she said in her Irish brogue. "I see them paradinz by in those short pants and I tell them 'You are a lovely girl. Now go put some clothes on."

Subscription rate: $2.00 a year; payable in advance.

FARM BUREAU OPPOSES NEW BENSON PLAN

The Virginia Farm Bureau Federation (VFBF) has registered its objection to changes proposed in the farm program for peanuts, cotton and tobacco.

Roy B. Davis, Jr., president told members of the Virginia Congressional delegation, that the VFBF will oppose any change in the present programs for peanuts, cotton and tobacco, and will oppose giving the Secretary of Agriculture power to set the level of price supports and allotments. This, Davis said, would concentrate too much authority in the hands of one individual and could be used to harm agriculture by setting price supports too low and thereby shifting the government - induced surpluses to the shoulders of the American farmer.

Davis stated that Farm Bureau felt that specific proposals relating to individual commodities should be developed and presented to the growers of those commodities for their consideration. Until this is done, the current programs should be retained, he continued.

Davis said that Farm Bureau was in favor of extending the Agricultural Trade and Development Act which authorizes the USDA to sell farm surpluses abroad for foreign currencies; and that the VFBF will support expansion of research in industrial uses of farm products and urge expansion of research in problems affecting the costs of production of farm products.

The Farm Bureau position also lends support to the extension of the school milk program, and of the National Wool Act on a temperary basis, as proposed by President Eisenhower.

HORSE AND RIDER

Kansas City.- At the Western Retail Implement and Hardware Association show a manufacturer from Yoakum, Texas, is displaying colorful Western saddles — with built-in foam rubber seats.

"It's just like the automobile industry," he explained. "They're making seats more comfortable. So are we."
